Democracy and Educational leadership

What are the most important thoughts, actions, reflections on the topic Democracy and Educational leadership you will take with you from this day?

What are the most important thoughts, actions, reflections on the topic Democracy and Educational leadership you will take with you from this day?

First and most important: to really pay attention to citizenship in education at all levels and in all dimensions.

Democracy is broader than democracy like it's organised nowadays and what is the impact on education.

Schools are not only the place to learn democratic contents, but to live democracy.

We found so much diversity in the topic!

We need to enable our students to reflect & to critique..to ask the right questions rather than focussing on right answers ..

There were similar experiences that we shared.

The issue is broad and complex

We are having problems with democracy, and, hence, we need educators to improve the situation.

Everything we do with "Bildung" and enlightenment is connected with democracy, because the democracy of fools leads to the dictatorship of stupidity.

Democracy needs engaging

It is also a question on what education focuses on.

The difference between education and bildung.

it 's not easy.
Glaze brought a lott of input: more time to integrate; make you 're own selection towards your own context.
understanding democracy is not for granted, it is develloping;
importance of character building;
growing further than you ego;
making tthe connection, openness, being an active (youth and adults)
Namdar's social transformative education. tension to focus on the classroom, wider perspective and different angels is needed, Glaze brought al lot of angels..., that's what enirdelm does.
beautiful risc of education, not everthing is measurable, wicked problem (bottery)
multidimensional, unpredictable,

Democratic leadership sometimes is subversive.

democracy is conflict. Without the openness to conflict we do not have a real democracy.

Democracy should not be taken for granted

- What are some of the challenges our youth are facing today?
- What strategies have worked in your jurisdiction to address some of these issues?

Education is not (allowed to) be concentrating on what it should be, from the perspective of democracy.

Respect for differences

We should allow more diversity.

Stop fitting into the system and start think by oneself

To be enemy of the collective illusions.

We liked Kamran's positive views on how youth is meeting the world today.

There is an issue of not everyone being ready to adapt what there is in society.

Generation perfect and how to have or cope up with challenges or wrongdoing

Universities should be proactive centres of positive sustainable anarchism.

The pace of changes, eg environment

People should find the strategies with each other

We have to give youngsters the methodology to realize solutions

- difficult for young people being seeing and heard, challenge for chararcter building, principal has to be established in the school , every is involved,- link with empathy, respect as a human being.
- age of shopping, material overload, education of dysruption, not immediate satisfaction; cope with frustration; broader perspective, world view, living together with different cultures opportunity of formation of teachers from other cultures , give a professional voice to newcomers, becoming teacher....

First digital conference

- Do you have any thoughts about what went well, what can be improved and whether it is a good idea to continue to arrange digital conferences if we are not able to meet?

Do you have any thoughts about what went well, what can be improved and whether it is a good idea to continue to arrange digital conferences if we are not able to meet?

It is a good idea.

We can continue if we are not able to meet

Perfect this way.
Suggestion: once a year, besides the annual

We might have had our own individual problems with technology.

We admitted multitasking during the day.

excellent that it could proceed (thanks Kjersti and team!) real life is always better, but when it is not possible, this is ok!, we keep in touch!

Did we feel ashamed about multitasking?

The dinner?
